Payment Protection Insurance, as the name says, is the insurance scheme which could protect the person and pay for loans in case s / he is incapable of paying it through his / her own means. There could be a variety of reasons for such default. In either case, if the person believes that s / he might not be capable of paying for the entire obligation of the loan, PPI is a potential option. This policy is offered by various banks as well as insurance companies.

But corruption has its roots everywhere and out of greed, insurance agents have started the mis selling of PPI and common people have to bear the brunt of ending up paying more money than the amount taken as loan. This is very unfair and thus the government has now started investigations against it. Still there are people who know very little of the mis selling of PPI and thus become the victims of mis sold PPI.
