Essential Tips to Know on Your Subsequent Airport Limousine Ride by Earnestine Novick

An airport limousine service provider is a time saver for travelers exploring Toronto. Here is the best way to maximize your chauffeur-driven limo.

Just like any getaway, it's smart being the early bird. Go to your destination—the airport, the resort, or a densely-populated location—at the very least an hour ahead of your appointment. Nobody knows if you might come upon something unexpected along the way: postponed flights, bumper-to-bumper traffic, or even inclement weather.

Likewise, you would not want to miss your flight to or from Toronto. It helps to be at the arranged meeting area on time. Nobody wants delayed drivers, so do not pull the same stunt with punctual chauffeurs. Don't forget, while you have compensated for the services, your tardiness could have an effect on their schedule with their other customers.

Keep all important papers close to you. Other than travel documentation like your passport, boarding pass, and statements, save the limousine company's mobile number on speed dial. Carry your mobile phone with you all the time as soon as you deplane. This way, the chauffeur can contact you immediately should an unforeseen event occur, just like the limousine being waylaid by traffic or a sudden detour required a change in pick-up details. It will also come in handy when trying to locate each other amidst the ocean of people entering and exiting the airport. Additionally, be sure to have your confirmation number prepared, to allow instant identification.

Include a meet and greet if your airport limousine company has it. Meet and greet is often a value-added assistance provided by many airport limo services to help reduce the period it will require to go from taxi to plane and the other way around. For arriving passengers, after disembarking from the plane, a staff member referred to as the greeter will meet you and accompany you to the baggage area. This greeter will get your baggage and go with you to the location where the airport taxi is waiting. No pointless strolls in the airport terminal, almost no time lost.

Safety considerations in light of recent terrorist activities worldwide have cleared the way for the enforcement of several measures like prohibiting Markham airport taxi drivers from meeting passengers at the arrival gate. Expect that the limousine driver (or the greeter) will go near you at the baggage claim area and permit him to attend to you until everything is ready for the car.

As usual, protection is every person's primary concern when traveling. Make it routine to bring a carry-on handbag with all your valuables, papers, IDs, prescription medication, and the like. Only large luggage and trolley bags should go into the trunk of the Toronto airport limo. In the end, following these pointers will help you concentrate on your needs for your trip.
