When it comes time to replace those carpets, go with hardwood floors. Los Angeles, CA homes usually have an increase in value when quality hardwoods are put into them replacing older, worn floors. People love the feel and the overall ease of care these flooring options offer. Even better, they look beautiful. No matter why you want to get rid of those old vinyl floors, Los Angeles, CA companies can help you to find just the right flooring choices for your home and your budget.

What Product Options Are There?

What you may not realize is the sheer number of options you have in hardwood floors. Los Angeles, CA offers a variety of products for you to choose from for your home. Here are a few things for you to consider as you compare options in floors.

>> What type of wood do you plan to use? Bamboo is one of the most earth friendly. Other options include birch, oak and maples. You can choose Brazilian cherries or many other versions. Consider the quality and softness of the wood, not to mention the grain.

>> What type of hardwood product do you want to install? Engineered wood is a good middle of the road product in that it is far better than laminate but not as expensive as true hardwoods. Nevertheless, nothing beats the beauty of true hardwood planks.

>> What coloring or stain are you looking for on the hardwood floors? Los Angeles, CA homeowners may wish to consider a variety of colorings dependent on the decor of their home. Consider the color of the stain to be something that is going to remain for years to come. True hardwoods, though, can be sanded down and repainted later if you wish to do so.

These are just some of the choice options you have when selecting hardwood floors for your home. If you wish to choose something that is more spectacular or something that is more durable then work with your representative to find the perfect color, size, style and budget range for your home.

More To Think About

As you consider pulling out those vinyl floors, Los Angeles, CA contractors can help you to make a few more decisions. Does the structural foundation of the home need work? Do you need to replace baseboards to match the new coloring of the floor? You may want to consider protective coatings that can seal out problems, including scratches and dents.

Consider all this as you choose from the wide range of options you have in hardwood floors. Los Angeles, CA homes can have any level of quality flooring added and one thing will be certain. Your home will feel warm and rustic, welcoming and beautiful every time you walk in. A simple dust mop is all you need to keep most products looking good, too. Spend a bit of extra time considering all of your flooring options. Then, determine if a hardwood floor is the right choice for any room or for your entire home's floor.
