The concept of stone cladding is an idea for your walls – interior and exterior. This is a process by which natural stone slabs or even manufactured ones will be piled up with a process which will increase the natural strength of the structure and give it a new look at the same time. There are companies that offer simulated work of stack stone that is both attractive and comfortably priced as well. Moreover, these are also given an additional warranty by the manufacturing company; in some cases companies offer a period of cover for as long as 30 years. This gives a long lasting finish to your walls in addition to a unique look.

Companies that provide services in stack stone also offer natural stone colors and textures. These are applied over interior walls as well as exterior walls. In case of exterior walls, the stones add to the strength and durability of the wall structure in addition to a long lasting and durable finishing. Stone cladding also gives homeowners a maintenance free wall cover option. These are extremely affordable while leaving no complications for maintenance in the years of service. The average thickness of tiles or the stone slabs vary from 20mm to 40mm. these are available as naturally procured stones and simulated stones as well.

The advantage of stone cladding is that it presents a permanent look to your walls. Be it interior walls or even the exterior walls of your house the installation of these gives you freedom from a continuous process of expense over maintenance like wall colors and waterproofing methods. However with the options of colors of stack stone there is a new décor element available that incorporates, old world charm along with cost-effective and maintenance free tiles. It is durable than concrete and has a substantial variety in colors and textures. You can choose color schemes and the stone grades based on suitability at all times of the year.
