Affordable SEO Services & Online Marketing Tips of the Week - 180 Fusion by Steve B

Article published on April 4th 2012 | Seo

Welcome to 180Fusion's Online Marketing Tips of The Week, including some pointers on web marketing and SEO. 180Fusion offers affordable SEO services for small and medium-sized businesses, helping our clients with experienced SEO that achieves results. Our affordable SEO services can help you achieve Internet presence without breaking the bank.

After having performed Affordable SEO Services for our clients for several years, we understand the need for professional and affordable SEO services, so we've formulated our own special SEO packages, which can all be custom tailored to fit your needs. So, how do we provide such affordable SEO services and achieve such results, and how can you boost your search engine ranking? Our tip today is just one of our many affordable SEO services, on keywords.

Search engines prefer natural-sounding language, so don't saturate your text with keywords; not only will it not work, but it may also get you banned. Search engines determine the keyword density in your content, and if keywords are unusually numerous, they will count this against you.

The trick in maintaining proper keyword density for any web copy, be it a social media post, an article for directory submission, a press release, or web site content, is balancing the amount of keywords. If the density is too high, as we initially mentioned, the search engine spiders will either lower your ranking or ban you altogether, accusing you of black-hat technique known as keyword stuffing – a big no no. But there's more that our affordable SEO Services address:

Conversely, if you don't have enough keywords in your web copy, the search engine spiders will rank you lower than your competitors because it has no way of knowing that you just don't address the topic as much as your competition does. It's a tricky game to play, but if you just write with the user in mind or use our affordable SEO services to do so, occasionally peppering in keywords as needed – but of course, not too much – then you'll make slow and steady progress climbing the search engine rankings.

Our affordable SEO services offer our clients the opportunity to get a grip on their online presence. For more information on our affordable SEO services, simply click here.
