War horse however, is not a typical show; it in fact plans to use Broadway as a launch pad for future. With completely new star cast and tour of Toronto and beyond, War Horse tickets are definitely much awaited among all those who appreciate plays.

War horse is a play based on an interesting story written by the famous children's writer called Micheal Morpurgo in 1982. This amazingly successful novel is set in England and France during the First World War. The story revolves around a horse named Joey who is taken away from his young owner to a cavalry. The young owner named Albert never forgets Joey and years later embarks on a journey to look for him. Stephen Spielberg is also planning a feature film on it. So simply click and book your War Horse tickets right away.

This show is categorically different from all the Broadway shows simply because of the equine element. The role of the horse is played by the life size equestrian puppet especially created by Handspring Puppet Company. Joey is moved around by three skilled puppeteers who have earned rave reviews from critics from all over. The other cast and crew too are well trained artist and simply the best in the field. Chosen after rounds of audition they are just made for the part played by them. The raves by the critics itself is the reason enough for the theatre goers to throng for War Horse tickets.

Initially there was a hesitance from Morpurgo, as to how the play would ever be made but once it was put on stage, the instant success proved all apprehensions to be totally wrong. The show first premiered successfully in the year 2007 October in South Banks, London where it did brisk business till about February 2008. It returned again the same year and was on till about March 2009. The play soon shifted to West End with a few original casts and score which were doing very well again. This super successful show is now all set for a US and a Toronto Tour. So book your War Horse tickets now.
