ColorFx, Inc. is a family-owned and operated printing enterprise located in Sun Valley, California, just north of Burbank. It was established in 1995. ColorFx, Inc commits for quality as its foundation. This foundation combined with the latest in production digital technology and state-of-the-art equipment is what it separates it from others. These unique features help the enterprise to increase the overall sales and eventually the business. ColorFx Printing offers complete trade & retail printing services nationwide. They offer exceptional pricing and service to their trade partners with quality that none can offer. They deal with business cards, catalogs, brochures, letterhead, flyers, notepads, and much more. Quality is their main logo.

Printing methods usually used are offset and die cut printing. Offset printing is being utilized by professional wholesale trade printers businesses which help them to cut down the cost. With this equipment, an image is copied onto a plate and then it is transferred onto a rubber mat. In the final step, it is pressed onto a paper. Die Cut Printing is another print style that is used in print industry. This equipment allows print companies to print large orders at the same time with a low cost. This print style uses a steel cutter that is called the die, and it is made into the shape needed for printing. The die is very sharp, allowing one to make a lot of cuts with one stroke. This reduces the charges on printing. These are just a brief overview of the reasons that wholesale printing is the most economical way for businesses and other companies to get the print materials needed.

ColorFx allows the customer to give the deal for printing in bulk. This helps to reduce cost and helps the designer to save money. Instead of giving an order for few products and re ordering, it is better that the customer gives the order in the bulk. Its cut offs the amount to a very great level. This procedure is consumer friendly and time saver also. Most of the companies don't allow their subscribers to order a lot of stuff but ColorFx makes it possible for them.
