Short for the New Okhla Industrial Development Authority, Noida is an area located in the Gautam Budh Nagar district of Uttar Pradesh state in India. Noida started to be under administration on 17 April 1976 and celebrates 17 April as "Noida Day". Now, Noida's economy is developing at fast speeds, and a number of companies with various scales are developing business in Noida.

Among all the first-rate office buildings in Noida, the commonly known ones are business centers. Business centers in Noida are located in the Central Business District of Noida, where transportation is efficient and the price of land is costly. Compared with conventional office buildings, they feature some new-type workplaces such as virtual offices, serviced offices and novel services like secretarial service, IT service, telephone answering service. Based on new needs of business people into consideration, they provide innovated products for users to cut down their overheads and maximize their business benefits.

With serviced offices, they allow a company to focus on the core business. A serviced office is a new-type office equipped with required facilities, including office furniture and office electric appliances as well as fast and secure internet connections, which can be utilized by users at very low price. After paying an all-inclusive bill and signing a simple agreement with a flexible lease term, users can get down to business right away. When users need a capable secretary to deal with all sorts of business affairs, they may choose the secretarial service. When there is something wrong with users' computers or some problems hurt the company network, an in-house IT supported team will exclude the difficulty and anxiety for them.

When people want to set up a company in Noida with no startup costs, virtual offices in Business centers in Noida are best solutions. Different from traditional offices, a virtual office has no physical office space. As a matter of fact, it is just a well-respected address, which projects a professional image for the user's company and makes it seem like a large and noble one. As a result, it may contribute to the significant increase of the business. In addition to a prestigious business address, a virtual office also features two services, including telephone answering service and mail forwarding service. Whenever the phone attached to the virtual office rings, there will always be a receptionist to manage the call and direct it to the user if necessary. When mails or faxes arrive at the office, these items will be resented to the place the user designates.

Currently, business centers in Noida are gaining popularity in Noida, as they fulfill the new, special needs in the real estate market. For those who don't want to make a big investment in the office facilities, or who want to get a prestigious business address at relatively low costs, those buildings are their best choices.
