Article published on February 8th 2012 | Business

With the advent of advanced printers at competitive prices flooding the market, zeroing on the printer of your requirement is a herculean task. Ranging from usage at home to those in office and those with which you can travel with; from graphic usage to printing notes, printers of all kind are available. IBM infoprint 6500 is one printer which is a workhorse that is used for office purpose. These are easy on your pocket and ears too, these are quiet operating machines. The highlight of IBM infoprint 6500 is the high quality print with speedy output of 2,000 lines per minute. This is something that is a very handy feature while in use in office. The corporate settings require a fast-paced approach and ibm infoprint 6500 is the right machine in such a scenario.

Infoprint 6500 has got its operator controls marked out that helps user. The printer has a faster control unit for improved processing of bar codes, graphics and overlays. The printer has also got a modern top cover and new clamshell design both to improve the usage.

Infoprint 6500 has got a quick setup menu which is highly reliable. It also has an intelligent ribbon system that requires no intervention from the user as it is fully automatic. It is designed to maintain finest print quality and provides with fifty million character life. The printer is driven by high performing Windows drivers.

IBM infoprint 6500 comes in a lot of models â€“ V05, V5P, V1P, V10, V15 and V20. All of these are cost-effective and have multipurpose utility.

Unlike other printers, in infoprint 6500, field upgrades can be done by the user himself, whereas, other printers do require the able hands of engineers for the upgrades.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/business-articles/something-about-ibm-infoprint-6500.htm - Article Side

Chris Adam - About Author:
For more information on a infoprint 6500, check out the info available online; these will help you learn to find the a ibm infoprint 6500!

Article Keywords:
infoprint 6500, ibm infoprint 6500

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!