Toilet Cubicles with a difference by Angie Turner

Article published on June 16th 2012 | Business

It's not unusual for customers to judge a venue on its toilet facilities. Undesirable toilets that are worn and tatty are a complete put off for many guests, especially women.

Why not set yourself apart from the crowd and install quality toilet cubicles that leave a great impression on your guests? Toilet cubicles don't have to be boring! Decide on a colour scheme for your toilet cubicles that really stands out. Perhaps a dark purple or a bright red? Toilet cubicles in your corporate colours are a great talking point for staff and customers. Think about the style of doors for your toilet cubicles – for example floor to ceiling doors give extra privacy – and the locking facility.

Toilet cubicles in schools, nurseries and children's play areas can be particularly fun to design. Bright colours and curved doors will instantly grab children's attentions, and lower height doors means Mums and Dads can keep a close eye on their kids. Printing interesting designs on the toilet cubicles makes toilet trips even more fun. Decorate them with rainbows, animals or the alphabet, and kids can carry on their learning even when visiting toilet cubicles!

Of course, toilet cubicles are not the only important element of a pleasant washroom. As well as stylish toilet cubicles, you'll also need to think about sinks, mirrors, flooring and drying systems. Having matching facilities creates a really smart look for your bathroom areas. It's important to make sure you install enough toilet cubicles as well. A common complaint from customers is the length of wait they had for the bathroom. Anticipating need and installing the correct number of toilet cubicles instantly removes this gripe from customers' minds.
