End caps are one of the great products that our company provides for the most competitive prices. Rgstech.co.uk also provides high quality castor wheels as well - visit our website today to see what we offer!

Manufacture certain items of office furniture and along with sets of castor wheels, End caps are quite often required to provide a finishing touch to the items. In most instances End caps are used on frames and tubular sections where the plastic or metal sections are left exposed. The End caps are pushed into the exposed areas of the products to give the items in question a neat finish; they vastly improve the look off the frames. They come in a variety of sizes and End caps are manufactured to individual customer requirements depending on the size and style of the caps that the client requires. It's easy to provide a neatly finished appearance to furniture frames; you just need a selection of End caps that are purpose made for the task in hand.

Selecting End caps

Customers are given a huge selection of choice when they are picking End caps. A variety of different shaped End caps are manufactured by suppliers of tube end fittings and they offer a diverse selection of goods to the market place, including quality sets of castor wheels. Some End caps are round, others are square, there's a great selection of oval products and rectangular plastic products as well. Distributors of End caps offer different sizes and shapes of End caps to their clients to cater for all of their individual requirements, whatever types of furniture frames they might be making. If you manufacture furniture frames and want to finish them off in style, End caps are the obvious solution.

Adding threads to End caps

Office chairs are common products that are fitted with End caps. In many instances furniture of this nature is fitted with castor wheels, this makes it easier to move the frames around. Obviously this presents a slight challenge when fitting End caps to the chairs but this is overcome by fitting threaded sections into the caps. Use End caps that are fitted with threads and castor wheels screw right into them offering a quick fix solution that delivers proven results. Threaded or not, End caps are inexpensive products that add a neat finish to unsightly exposed edges on frames.
