Gone are the days when bridesmaid use to wear matching outfits in weddings. Now is the trend to mix and match your bridesmaid dresses and make them feel comfortable. You can let each bridesmaid (Robe demoiselle dâ€™honneur) choose her own colour, fabric and design and offer your guests something much more than a place on your special day. You can give them an opportunity to look glamorous and also be able to wear their bridesmaid dress (Robe de demoiselle dâ€™honneur) again and again.

Bridesmaid dresses are offered in a variety of fabrics, colours and styles. We offer a huge selection of bridesmaid dresses which are fun and versatile to wear.

Itâ€™s obvious that not all your bridesmaid will be of same height and weight. They will all have different body structures. You can get the bridesmaid dress customised for each one of your attendant. Try choosing a colour, fabric and let each of your bridesmaid select the dress style. You have a huge array of bridesmaid dresses from A-lines to sexy halter necks. Your bridesmaid can just select one design and change the necklines.

Once you have selected a particular style of dress for your bridesmaids, you can then choose a colour. Again, let each girl choose a colour that suits their complexion. If you have a theme wedding, like a wedding on the beach, you can choose shades of blue. This will simple look elite and dreamy. If your bridesmaids prefer purple, you can opt for lilac, lavender or plum. If your guests are wearing different colour dresses, you can decorate their bouquets with matching ribbons.

Whatever shade you choose make sure all the bridesmaid dresses are in the same fabric.

If your bridesmaid wants to choose different colours, you can use accent colours to spruce up the Bridesmaid dresses. This allows you to give each bridesmaid an individual look. For instance, put one attendant in a turquoise dress with a lime-green sash, another in a solid turquoise shift, a third in a lime sheath with turquoise edging at the hemline or neckline. To add you can choose accessories that compliment their dresses. Pretty beaded clutches, satin or chiffon wraps, drop earrings or bracelets make great attendant gifts and add spark to your bridesmaid ensembles.

Bridesmaid dresses are special and you indeed want your bridesmaids to feel beautiful while wearing them. Get their dresses personalized and make your bridesmaids feel more confident and love the fact that their dresses can be worn again. This is a wonderful way to show your bridesmaids that you care about them.
