How to choose a prom dress to Show Your Identity in Your Prom by Annabel

Article published on July 11th 2012 | Clothing

According to a research, the color one prefers always represents his or her characters and feelings. So psychologist Doctor Peter Gospel thought that one can guess others'™ psychologies especially girls'™ by looking at his or her clothing.

Study shows that People who pay much attention on the color of dress and the complex dresses are realistic and confident, but also are fond of governing others and vanity. Their emotion is impetuous. In contrast, people who tend to light color and simple dress are always introverts. They live a plain life and own a peaceful temper. However, at the same time, they lack confidence at most time and like to rely on others. Then if you want to show your identity perfectly, the color of your prom dress should suit your character.

Red prom dress is known as a young type with plentiful dusts. Women who wear the red one are always feel dissatisfy in life. They are full of risky spirits and follow the fashion. Their tempers are uncertain. If you have an outgoing character and want to show yourself, this one is the best. I believe in this prom dress, you can attract boys'™ eyes to your heart'™s content.

People who wear green prom dress are thought to be preserving and realistic mother style. In life, they are content with things as they are, cautious in actions and hard working. But they fear to take risks and pull ahead. Their introversive character makes them shy on expressing their true feelings and always control their desires. In emotional life, they belong to the passive part. So if you want to display the image of a quiet and modest maiden, then a green prom dress is a good choice.

Besides, white gives people the signal that you are sacred and can'™t be conversant and you are too far to reach. In most time, purple sends the message that you are romantic and noble. Those gentlemen may be crush on you. Girls who are naïve and innocent inside probably will choose yellow. It'™s a bright color which brings people a feeling of brisk and vivacious. The color blue is one of my favorite colors which convey that you are sincere and pure-hearted. Being full of fantasies is the color'™s major identity. The last color I will introduce is black. It'™s the name of mystery. People wearing this color are the ones always control their feelings to be exposed but they desire to be protected and loved by others especially their lovers.

All in all, one may like many colors. So it'™s too rash to judge one'™s character just by the color of the prom dress of one guy. But the color can guide you to know a strange man quickly and make friends with people who have similarities with you if he or she wears the same color.
