Jamshedpur is one of the cities in the Eastern part of the country. It is the first planned industrial city of the country. Jamshedpur was founded by the late Jamshedji Nusserwanji Tata, and this is the reason that it is also called the Tata Nagar or the Steel City. The city is the most populous city of the Indian state of Jharkhand. Jamshedpur is the headquarter of the East Singhbhum district of the state and is located on the Chota Nagpur plateau.

Jamshedpur is a major industrial center of the East India and has some of the major industrial bases which include, Tata Steel, Tata Motors, Tata Power, Lafarge Cement, Telcon, BOC Glasses, Tata Technologies Limited, Praxair, TCE, TCS, and Tinplate. Adityapur is one of the largest industrial zones of the country and is situated in Jamshedpur, which is home to more than thousand industries. Not just this, besides being a top notch industrial city it is also a clean city and was ranked seventh cleanest city in the country. This city is also home to the first private iron and steel company of India. Jamshedpur is well connected with rail, road and air services.

Not just the industrial sector many other fields are being championed by the city and one of them being the education sector of the state. The literacy rate is high in this part of the city. The city has some of the well known as well as prestigious educational institutions have hundreds of schools, dozens of colleges and other institutes. Significant and considerable institutes of the city are as follows, Xavier Labor Relations Institute (XLRI), the National Institute of Technology Jamshedpur, Institute of National Importance, the National Metallurgical Laboratory, the Council of Scientific and Industrial Research and Shavak Nanavati Technical Institute (SNTI).

The schools in the city are affiliated with the CBSE and ICSE boards and are administered either by the government organization or are run by some private trust or organization. You could find different types of schools according to your conditions for instance we have kindergartens, primary schools, secondary schools, higher secondary schools, world schools, international schools, residential schools, boarding and the day boarding schools. Most of the schools here have their websites maintained and one could easily login to the site and collect the desired information.

Many schools even have the online form filling and fee paying facilities. The schools here have all the desired amenities present for the students. For instance a well designed and air conditioned class rooms, a large and well stuffed school library, hygienic as well as nutritious food serving school canteen, round the clock drinking water availability and well equipped school laboratories for different subjects like mathematics, chemistry, biology, physics and Computer science. Many of the schools also have school swimming pool for the students. Some of the institutes also use the educomp smart classes for the better understanding of the topics.
