Article published on May 28th 2012 | Food

The affection and love for pizza seen worldwide is unmatched. There are different types of pizzas and all of them are too tasty. But undoubtedly, the yummiest of the lot is gourmet pizza. There is something special in this pizza that places it way ahead than other pizzas. The secret lies in the ingredients used to make this pizza.

The origin of pizza dates back to some two hundred years before in Naples. It was only meant for the peasants initially. But with the progress of time, the pizza has reached almost every house across the globe. Whatever be the taste of an individual, pizzas are liked by all. This fact is proved by the growing up of so many pizza parlors in various big and small cities of the world. The pizza that is sold the most in these outings is the mobile gourmet pizza. The chefs are coming up with innovative recipes of pizza to lure in more customers to their shops.

The introduction of gourmet pizza is relatively new to the platter, only about some twenty years or so. Made with the best ingredients, top-notch toppings found in the market, they have surely caught the taste buds of many. Some of the commonest toppings used in the gourmet pizza are salmon, dill or tiger prawns etc. But the toppings have a little role in producing the surreal taste of these pizzas, itâ€™s the components that do so. The best quality flour, tomato and cheese are used to prepare and no second-best things are ever used.

With so much effort, innovation, quality products used to make the gourmet pizza, the price of them is relatively more than the other regular pizzas. The pizza shop owners try to make the price as less as possible so that anybody can afford it. But the value for your money is fully achieved when you have a bite of these delicious pizzas.
