Give a Spellbinding Effect to Your Home Decor by John Bardon

Article published on August 1st 2012 | Gardening

Gone are the days when only a few people really liked artificial plants as they clearly seemed to be artificial and fake. Today modern artificial plants have gained popularity as they appear highly realistic and make it too hard for anyone to distinguish from real plants. Be it a home or office, it has always benefited by green plants and flowers. These plants add freshness to the place and make any atmosphere more relaxing. Most of the people have adopted artificial plants and made them an integral part of their lives. Silk plants are available in abundance and add attractiveness to any place. They have become a favorite choice for business firms and hotels, and are usually placed at the entrance or right in the center which normally is the focal point. These plants are long lasting, affordable and an ideal replacement of their live counterpart.

Advantage of Silk Plants

There's no denying the fact that plants bring positive energy and surprisingly, silk plants have the same effect. Along with their greenery and freshness they also bring that feeling of tranquility which is needed for mental relaxation. Keeping artificial silk plants is quite practical, they can easily be placed inside the house without worrying about their maintenance, sunlight and water. Taking care of a real plant is can be tiresome, most important of all you need to choose the plant carefully whether it might suit the environment of the house or not. Silk plants are highly economical as there are no chances of them getting dying because of too high or too low temperature.

Regular Cleaning of Silk plants

These plants ask for very little maintenance, the only thing that happens to them is they gather dust which can easily be cleaned by dusting. It is advisable not to clean the silk plants with water else you might end up spoiling their texture and color. The artificial foliage made of silk gives them a shine that is almost similar to real plants and regular cleaning can help them last for long.

You will be amazed to see the wide range of silk plants available these days. People are generally aware of Christmas tree but there is much more besides that. You can get an artificial replica of almost all the plants from an average height plant to a bonsai. You can also opt for silk grasses and make them an interesting decorative piece for your peg table or dining table.
