

Article Side

East End Wellness Center, Riverhead, NY Guides You towards a Healthy Life by Michael Nelson

Article published on May 1st 2012 | Health

East End Wellness Center, Riverhead, NY has been providing the most comprehensive and individualized programs to enable the healing process for autoimmune diseases, allergies, and Post-Lyme Syndrome (PLS) for many years. They also help to lessen the stress for children in the spectrum of autism. The clinical immunology programs include integrative immunology components and offer an individualized treatment approach to respond to the uniqueness of each individual with an immune dysfunction. With use of specialized blood tests and a host of markers, they discover the exact weakness that has resulted in patient's immune dysfunction. Although it is the result of failure of several complex and integrated biological systems but the precise cause differs in each case.

At the East End Wellness Center, Riverhead, NY, the health professionals are dedicated to help patients in making them feel better. They combine the best of modern Western medical technology with nutrition and herbal medicine into integrative therapies to help patients in optimizing their health and vitality. The integrative treatments are performed under medical supervision to assure total wellness of every patient. The wellness specialists currently address issues of allergic illnesses, and some aspects of Auto-immune and applied immunology diseases. They are committed to guide patients towards the path of total health and well being.

The individualized program followed at East End Wellness Center, Riverhead, NY includes educating patients to understand the processes of healing and to know how different stressors and toxins affect their health. They focus on addressing the five vital requirements of health which are diet and nutrition, hormone levels and balance, digestion and absorption of nutrients, detoxification and elimination as well as immune system function and response. East End Wellness Center reviews and applaud their professional approach followed for addressing the problems. This medical facility offers a calm and relaxing atmosphere to the patients and their friendly staff makes them comfortable. All of patient's issues are professionally treated by experienced and competent doctors. For more details about their individualized programs, please browse through www.eastendwellnesscenter.com.

Article Source:

<http://www.articleside.com/health-articles/east-end-wellness-center-riverhead-ny-guides-you-towards-a-healthy-life.htm> - Article Side

Michael Nelson - About Author:

Michael Nelson is a writer and a researcher who is very passionate about writing and research. He has written many books and articles. He also does research work for various companies.

Article Keywords:

East End Wellness Center Reviews, East End Wellness Center Riverhead NY