IV Therapy- a Modern Day Wonder by James Blee

Article published on December 14th 2011 | Health

Have you ever bothered to think about the wonders the IV therapy can play in a human life? The most special feature about this method is its ability to infuse liquid substance directly in the veins. In fact, the word, "intravenous"™ in medical parlance means "within a vein"™. There are many types of therapies that are actually administered intravenously. It is better known as specialty pharmaceuticals.

The intravenous administration done under iv therapy is commonly called as a drip. It is a common knowledge that there are numerous systems to administer a drip chamber. As a result of this step, it goes a long way in preventing air to enter blood streams. This is the way the medicos are able to estimate the flow rate. This method is completely different from methods employed in the anti aging clinic. Of course, there are many purposes when this type of therapy appears to be the only option. For instance, it plays a crucial role in maintaining the requirement levels of electrolytes and fluids. Similarly, they are tremendously beneficial in replacing concurrent and previous losses.

The medicos of anti aging clinic prefer this method because they find it a perfect choice when it comes to providing vitamin/nutrition replacement. According to a leading medical journal, it was found that they are of help in a special circumstance. This situation arises when a need is felt to provide a kind of mechanism that will allow smooth administration of medications. Generally, this kind of administration relates to transfusion of blood components or blood. Hypertonic solutions, hypotonic solutions and isotonic solutions are three popular types of Intravenous fluids. With the inflationary trend making a slow exit, presently more and more people are resorting to spend a large amount on such clinics.
