Online shopping is an electronic commerce in which the customers can directly purchase items and services from a seller through internet without the requirement of any physical shop. The online buying process is similar to the shopping process at a physical retailer shop or shopping with the ease of ordering products from home. Online shopping is a simple single click solution to satisfy all our shopping needs and it is a very easy process.

In most cases, there are no delivery charges and the product is delivered at the consumers door step. Even if there any delivery charges, they are usually very low. The cost of travelling to the store itself is sometimes more expensive than the delivery charges; hence online shopping is a practicable alternative in many ways. The process of online shopping constitutes two kinds mainly either business to consumer online shopping or business to business online shopping. In the first kind of online shopping the customer buys a product o a service and in the second kind a business buys from another business.
