Compared to other languages, PHP is very flexible to change, unlike Java and .net that can not be combined with other technologies.

How to Get More Web Development Business

1. Get out of your cave Design

The main source of business for most freelance web designers small business is local. Small local businesses want others in your community to buy locally, which often make a point to do the same themselves. You can use this to your advantage, because wherever you are, you are a local businessman.

So how do network and meet the owners of small businesses? That wherever you go. Joining your Chamber of Commerce or business associations and start attending meetings. Be sure to attend meetings with business cards and intent of people I meet, not to sell to people. Volunteering and supporting local charities and community events is another great way to network and meet with small business owners.

2. Create your online portfolio

It is unlikely that someone will buy a website from which you do not see examples of their work. Your portfolio is your resume to potential customers and the ability to put your best foot forward. Quality is essential for web design portfolio, make sure it works perfectly on all browsers and resolutions. If the first impression a potential customer is a website with obvious problems, you will have a tough sell ahead.
